

BRISTEIL

(SPRING 2016 | Minsk, BELARUS)

Bristeil is a unique independent band in the intelligent rock style! The first music video out now!

The band have an extensive back catalogue that goes from the mostly English indie-rock and power-pop Hair Peace Salon times. Since 1998 this band has been being on the stage with a worthy success story, but in the mid of 2013 their frontman Aleh Vial (guitar, vocal) and Alex Stepanovich (drums) decided to make a new stage music by themselves. Shortly two other members have joined to Bristeil: Max Bykau (guitar) and Gena Lukashanets (bass).

The band name follows Eric Johnson's song "Bristol Shore" and collaboration Aleh Vial with the world-famous musician and producer Tricky from Bristol, UK. Musicians have corrected band's name to «Bristeil» in order to not lost among countless web-links although.

"Bristeil, perhaps, is a some definite place, perhaps, there it's good, but the one thing is exactly clear to us: MUSIC and SOUL are into that", so musicians say about their band name.

In May, 2014 Bristeil released their first EP called "Cyrul'nia Svietu" (Barbershop Of The World into English). This record represents music results of six months work. All four tracks have been written in Belarusian – the native language for all musicians. Two tracks on this EP are covers: "Videa Hu'ni" of Lana Del Rey "Video Games", "Pa-za Časam" of Hair Peace Salon "Out Of Time".

"Cyrul'nia Svietu is a tribute to Hair Peace Salon, because all ideas to music and lyrics on this record have come from the Hair Peace Salon times", remembers the band leader Aleh Vial.

EP "Cyrul'nia Svietu" has received some positive journalists reviews and good feedback from listeners. For example, one of the famous music portals in Belarus, Tuzin.fm has called this release like "nice, sensual, lively, intelligent music; a beautiful and worthy debut that is deserved the highest rating".

In September, 2014 the first music video of the new single "Muzyka Hučyc'" (Music Sounds into English) as the Tricky's "Unfinished Track" contest winner song was released based on a live studio session footage.

In November, 2014 Tuzin.fm nominated Bristeil to the "Opening of the Year" award.

Since April, 2015 Bristeil is an ambassador The Will Gray Blueprint foundation.

The band are planning to release a lot of new music things soon.
